

Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2005-12/msg00255.html>

- From: "Mark" <a@xxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 19 Dec 2005 22:04:54 -0000
-

Hi,

Thanks for that.
I HATE the city, i love the country.
I feel much better here. I am gutted to leave.
I went to Scotland before i came here and got the same reception. Maybe i should work on my accent.
It wouldn't have been as bad if i wasn't raised in Scotland !
But i am an IT project manager, no call for them here.
Only people here that make money are A.Irish and B.Builders/Farmers.
The anti-social welcome is the main reason why i am going.
I don't mind being poor so long as i have food and heat.
But i can't spend another year in isolation.
I hvan't eaten fast food for nearly 2 years.
I haven't seen a McDonalds since i drove thru wales on the way here.
Will be nice to be able to buy lawn mowers at 3am again tho.

Oh well end of a dream

Mark.

" Jill" <newsNOSPAM@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:43a71ca5\$0\$63086\$ed2e19e4@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> Mark wrote:
>> Well i have finally given up on country living...
>> Reality is there ain't no money here so i am going back to London >> and my chooks have to go.
>
> Mark
> What a shame you have not found what you were looking for in a different > environment
>
> To choose to be in the country is to choose to do without a LOT -- a LOT -- > and I will say it again -- a LOT.
> There is a good reason why many businesses in the country do not pay tax -- > it costs to live in the country, you don't earn the same, the expectations

Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(

> are different and just about everything seems to conspire to work against > you at times
> The cost / benefit analysis is very different from an equivalent business in > the city – and that covers the business and the family values
> :~))
>
> Choosing a completely different country to do it in is even more of a shock
>
> I was putting together some contact details for poultry folks within 100 > miles of you that I could find to help you
>
>
>>
>> I have not had them long but I will really miss them.
>> They were all I had in this bleak unfriendly country.
>
> Oh – that sounds so sad
>
>> I feel like I have betrayed them.
>> I know they don't know that, they're a bunch of mouldy-bread sluts.
>
> Hey -- they are better than that !! <very big grin>
>
>
>>
>> Oh well..
>>
>> Maybe one day I will try again.
>
> There are lots of places you can go to for courses and working holidays > around the country to learn more and do experience the life in short bursts.
> Don't give up – but enjoy your new life back in the city -- maybe that is > where you are happiest
> Someone has to be <even bigger grin>
>
> HAve a HAPPY Yuletide season
>
>
> ---
>
> regards
> Jill Bowis
>
> Pure bred utility chickens and ducks
> Housing; Equipment, Books, Videos, Gifts
> Herbaceous; Herb and Alpine nursery
> Working Holidays in Scotland
> <http://www.kintaline.co.uk>
>

Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(

Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(

>>
>> Signing off
>>
>> Mark.
>
>

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
 ◇ From: Nicholas
- ◆ Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
 ◇ From: Jill

• References:

- ◆ No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
 ◇ From: Mark
- ◆ Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
 ◇ From: Jill

- Prev by Date: Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
- Next by Date: Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
- Previous by thread: Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
- Next by thread: Re: No Chooks For Xmas ;-(
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread