Hi you people

Now birdflu has reached the EU in several countries we would like to protect our poultry and ourselves as it might reach our country too.

They still speak about vaccinating the birds and getting a permitt from Brussel That might help us overhere (i hope they decide quickly instead of keeping talking about it).

But what about Nigeria, birdflu would have a great impact on African economics. So i thought this newsgroup owing all poultry might be some help.

Has anyone of you ever used Colloidalsilver? or known people who have? I surfed the internet and it is an old working method against bacteria and virus it seems as they claim. Very cheap to make, no patent on it. Can anyone tell me more? Are there any sientist among you?

greetings xinixx

I know it knocks out a head cold in about 3 days...

My father makes it.

It's cheap and easy to make your own with your own generator. Prices on the internet are assinine to purchase it.

Peace, Om.
