

Re: The end of the world is nigh

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2006-02/msg00319.html>

- From: "ROYNEU" <royneu@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: 28 Feb 2006 03:29:47 -0800
-

In the United States.

Our birds fly up from South America through the United States and into Canada. There are really no signs down south as of now that I know about. It will be interesting to see if all of a sudden like in other places there are signs and the birds track the infection up though the U.S. and into Canada.

Considering the countries of origin so far and their reporting capabilities/desire. I will be interested to watch the migration to the North. A sinister theory at best. . . if there were a group or groups that wanted to cause hugh economical harm to "Super Powers" what better way then to infect the natural migration of birds with a human receptive virus in 3rd world nations that don't have the money or desire to contain the problem?

Yes, it's the everybody is out to get us feeling. But I am concerned that there is no real explanation as to why these outbreaks are happening. That is why I have a wait and see attitude about this. Time will tell.

Roy

.