Not us. That's another group that I won't mention by name that has "aggressive personalities" in play <g> .

We center on the family aspect. Kid friendly, suitable for research, home schoolers etc. Oldest goose group on the net!!! (I think) so this is a different group called Geese-As-Pets ?

Subject: [Geese-As-Pets] Member removed...

The person that multiple complaints were lodged against has been removed from this group (both of her email addresses). If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

It just seems a bit disingenous to suggest other groups to a thriving group to which you are not a regular poster. It has a strong taste of SPAM even if it is on topic. If you were a regular poster, it would be embraced. SPAM is never welcome, anywhere, And I'm really NOT interested in any group reliant on spam to attract members. People who follow spam invitations are generally clueless and add no real value to discourse. I'll stay here. Thank you very much.
