

Chicken sitting duck eggs

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2007-03/msg00333.html>

---

- From: diddy <diddy@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sat, 31 Mar 2007 07:41:57 -0500
-

My muscovy hens laid their eggs in the chicken house. One hen keeps collecting their eggs, and runs the ducks out. She's now sitting on 20 fertile duck eggs. At first both the duck and chicken were sitting on two separate nests of duck eggs, but the hen stole one egg at a time until the duck was sitting on one egg, and I redistributed the eggs, so the chicken had one, and the duck the rest. That wasn't good enough for the chicken, so she swapped nests with the duck, and ultimately stole the duck's last egg. Now the duck is laying (NOT IN HER NESTBOX I MADE FOR DUCKS, but in the house CHIMNEY!)

I think something went awry.

.