

Re: Group questions

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2007-06/msg00172.html>

- From: "Amy Blankenship" <Amy_nospam@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 28 Jun 2007 15:18:09 -0500
-

"Jill" <news@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:46841344\$0\$8741\$ed2619ec@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Amy Blankenship wrote:

You may be acknowledged on here as an expert on poultry,
but I think as far as what the situation was or is in my neck of the woods, I know far more about it than you do. You need to stand corrected at this point.

-Amy

I was not posting as a poultry person – I made it clear that it was from the perspectives of having lived with experts in SAR and public health all my life. It was their opinions I was conveying, They were appalled. They / and others from the same fields / did quite alot of homework afterwards because they could not believe what they saw and were ready to pass it off as bad media coverage. It was not. The SAR and the Emergency Public health response would have been unacceptable here and many other places around the world.

You may accept it. That is fine. Its your way of life and its your choice to live there.

Your statements ARE NOT accurate as far as Mississippi goes. You are flat wrong.