

Shrunken comb/tail feathers

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2007-09/msg00056.html>

- From: "keith kent" <keith3@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 22 Sep 2007 20:29:58 GMT
-

I have a Legorn Exchequer hen that has shunken comb and no tail feathers. Usually her comb is large and red as they should be, but I would say her comb has shunk to a quarter of the normal size. She now looks similar to a young hen/pullet. I have noticed lots of feathers about in the last 2 weeks so thought one of them was having their first moult. Other than this she is eating and doing the usual things. My other Legorn/2 Sussex look fine. Any ideas?

I am thinking something serious, please someone tell me it isn't.
Thanks Keith