Damn! I thought I had you securely kilfiled.
Now corrected.

I have him killfiled too.

How it is possible to watch domestic chickens that have obviously been abandoned without trying to save them is beyond my understanding. Once there was 7, now there is 3. So what happened to the other 4?

They died because Ron could not be arsed to throw some feed to them and prefers to watch them die one by one.

Disgusting, I call it.

Tina

Three were killed by a neighbor's dog, when he got loose once.

One wandered away. I hear him crowing in the distance sometimes.

Three are still out back.

Thanks for your interest. They manage to fend for themselves as well as wild birds do.
