

Re: Book recommendations

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.agriculture.poultry/2008-08/msg00031.html>

- From: Ginny <glvl88@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 11 Aug 2008 12:30:42 +0800
-

Sally Thompson wrote:

On Sun, 10 Aug 2008 15:20:20 +0100, hal@xxxxxxxxxxx wrote
(in article <57ut949rlhhe92fj13eonu3i9rokh2sovf@xxxxxxxx>):

On Sun, 10 Aug 2008 14:45:39 +0100, Sally Thompson
<spt@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

I've read a few books belonging to a friend and have learnt most of what I know (which isn't a lot!) from him and from reading this group over the last year and from its archives. However, I would really like to get an all-purpose chicken-keeping reference book and I wondered what others would recommend – preferably something written from the UK point of view since our weather conditions are so different from some other parts of the world.

I found this book most helpful

<http://search.barnesandnoble.com/booksearch/results.asp?WRD=storey+raising+chi> ckens

and although not written from a UK perspective it is generic enough to apply to any climate.

Thanks for the link. I have tracked it down on Amazon UK, where it seems to have rather mixed reviews! However, I might see if I can find it in the library first.

Re: Book recommendations

Which was going to be my recommendation. :) I have been borrowing books recently and our library seems to have quite a few poultry books written in the UK although not much written in AU.

Just today I found a DVD 'A Guide to Keeping Hens in your Garden' with Francine Raymond; provides an encouraging step by step guide on how to choose, house and care for your flock; based in Suffolk; put out by Second Sight Productions.

--

Ginny – in West Australia

.