

Re: Where did wading babies sleep?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology.paleo/2005-10/msg00341.html>

- From: "Mario Petrinovich" <mario.petrinovic1@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 10 Oct 2005 22:23:14 +0200
-

spiznet:

- > Are you saying that the babies slept in cheek pouches? Thats really
- > kool, I think Aldis will like this alot, This goes a long was to
- > explain any and all aquatic adaptions without need of an unsafe
- > external water environment, since they lived inside the mouths of the
- > mothers until they were old enough to hang onto her back or walk, etc.
- >
- > brilliant, Jois you were right!
- >
- > Thanks, Mario,
- > your freind, Mermark

You are in my killfile. — Mario

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Where did wading babies sleep?
 - ◇ From: spiznet
- References:
 - ◆ Where did wading babies sleep?
 - ◇ From: Andrew Nowicki
 - ◆ Re: Where did wading babies sleep?
 - ◇ From: spiznet
- Prev by Date: Re: Where did wading babies sleep?
- Next by Date: Re: Savanna nonsense
- Previous by thread: Re: Where did wading babies sleep?
- Next by thread: Re: Where did wading babies sleep?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread