

Re: Gorillas use tools, too

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology.paleo/2005-10/msg00616.html>

- From: "mclark" <biteme@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sat, 22 Oct 2005 13:45:05 GMT
-

"Algis Kuliukas" <algis@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:1129986893.154819.122630@xx

>

> mclark wrote:

>> "Algis Kuliukas" <algis@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

>> news:1129974709.515223.102730@xx

>>>

>>> JAE wrote:

>>>> Algis Kuliukas wrote:

>>>

>> [a repeat of the previous post which, predictably did not >> address the criticisms leveled, just more of the same bawl--ass

>> whining]

>

> And this is the predictable arse--licking post we always get from you, > where you defend, like a brainless religious prat, anything one of your > high priests says against anything the terrible, evil, sacreligious > bastards (those people who think humans might have moved through water > a bit more than chimps and some selection resulted from it) say.

>

>> Oh, and one (1) decent .sig:

>>

>> "It was only a masters project. I only had a few >> days to do it in." --Algis Kuliukas 10/21/2005

>

> Congratulations. You're clearly now well versed in this creationist

> 'take a few words out of context and drop it into a lie about the real > meaning' technique. I'm sure Jason will endorse your high standards of > research and defend your sleaze to the death.

'Mornin', Doofus Boy. I don't know what you would expect context to be doing for you here. It seems plain spoken enough for anyone to understand. It is, of course, rich with irony since it says pretty much all there is to say about your regard for academic rigor. And it is clearly referenced since it is accompanied by your name (you're the author) and it is dated which would help anyone interested to track it down to its' original source. Most unlike your reference below which, although nested in something like quotation marks, cannot be attributed to me since I never said anything remotely resembling such. Further, my name is spelled incorrectly — a mere oversight on your part, I'm sure, since you've been reading my name for years in this NG and cannot have failed to internalize its spelling (unlike all those things I've actually had to say about your hobby horse).

Re: Gorrillas use tools, too

Nice work and right up to your usual standards.

> Algis Kuliukas

>

> 'Throw shit at him!' – Michael Clarke's most intellectual argument so far.

—

"Looks like you have an agenda to me."

Algis Kuliukas 10/01/05

• References:

- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: Algis Kuliukas
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: Rich Travsky
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: Algis Kuliukas
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: JAE
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: JAE
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: Algis Kuliukas
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: mclark
- ◆ Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
◇ From: Algis Kuliukas

- Prev by Date: Re: Rat Documented Swimming 400 meters
- Next by Date: Re: Rat Documented Swimming 400 meters
- Previous by thread: Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
- Next by thread: Re: Gorrillas use tools, too
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread