

Re: Absence of Canines in Apiths

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology.paleo/2005-12/msg00277.html>

- From: "Lee Olsen" <paleocity@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 7 Dec 2005 08:59:26 -0800
-

mclark wrote:

I'm getting old, folks, > and along with that comes tired. I'm tired of the loons and > would support building a fence to keep them out of SAP if > that sort of thing were possible. Does anyone want to talk > about moderation?
>

Congratulations on your new job as moderator of sap (moderated).

Here is a postulated preview of your duties. As you can see they will be ideally suited for your condition-----old.

Activity: Low

<http://groups.google.com/group/sci.archaeology.moderated/about>

Notice the month of August, 4 posts total. No matter how old you get, you will always be able to keep up with a workload like that. In fact, if the activity gets any lower, your arthritic fingers won't even need to click a mouse. If, heaven forbid, blindness sets in, no problem here either, no posts, no reading required.

And as an added bonus, notice one of the top all-time posters is the moderator himself. This means that if the pace get too hectic, you have the option to stop posting and the activity level will once again drop to zero, leaving you plenty of free time to hang around your local medicare office.

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Absence of Canines in Apiths
 - ◇ From: Jois