

Re: More trouble for dry apers (Re: Ealine Morgan)

Re: More trouble for dry apers (Re: Ealine Morgan)

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology.paleo/2007-08/msg00072.html>

- From: Marc Verhaegen <m_verhaegen@xxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 03 Aug 2007 00:46:29 +0200
-

Op 02-08-2007 23:47, in artikel
1186091244.780930.89910@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, Lee Olsen
<paleocity@xxxxxxxxx> schreef:

You
bet
doughboy,
all
the sooner
for Homo
ancestors
to get out on the savanna.

??
Savanna??
What has savanna to do with all this??

No answer, but the usual blabla:

Littoral?? What does littoral have to do with all this?

Re: More trouble for dry apers (Re: Ealine Morgan)

My little boy, don't you know this?? Never heard of physiology??

No answer, but the usual insult:

Says the same clown who thinks mountain beavers are semi-aquatic:

Says the Savanna Fantast who claims that aquatic animals must have webs.

No, you just used sea otters (that have web feet) as an example

Yes, thanks, my boy. Another argument pro AAT. You're improving.

.