

Re: diving hominids?

Re: diving hominids?

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology.paleo/2007-09/msg00437.html>

---

- From: Marc Verhaegen <m\_verhaegen@xxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 17 Sep 2007 03:09:52 +0200
-

Op 17-09-2007 02:59, in artikel
1189990790.034328.59290@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx, nickname
<alas\_my\_loves@xxxxxxxx> schreef:

On Sep 16, 4:50 pm, Marc Verhaegen <m\_verhae...@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

Some savanna idiot wrote:

myoglobin molecules. This substance is unknown in humans.

:--DDDDDDDDDDDD

Neuroglobin, cytoglobin, hemoglobin, myoglobin all known present in humans, all store/exchange oxygen, all vital.

But at least he tried!

Incredible, isn't it?
These people simply don't know what they're talking about.

--Marc

.