Here is the problem with Africa – and you'd have to a lot of first hand reading from FIRST whites that objectively wrote down what they saw there. You have a stone age people there, they don't even have wheels. No reading. No writing. None of that. Tribes "as long as they can remember" living in one spot, never even going 10 miles out of there to get to know another tribe next door. This is hard to imagine for ANYONE in Europe or China. I mean, didn't they even WALK 10 miles? No – they didn't. They are like Amazonian Indians are – and you can SEE documentaries of brand new tribes found there – primitive as ever. In come these industrial aged white men and they see a LOT of empty land, resources, gold mines to make money, ways to make money. They think they can just THROW civilization on these primitive people who have lived their way for god knows HOW long. You know, you can read about medical attempts to get the natives to wear condoms. Lord have mercy, you may as well try to teach a DOG how to use one. Literally. It's useless. It can't be done, you can't just HAND a civilization that evolved in a whole other place – to people in that environment. Sure, stuff gets built for them – once the whites are gone, it falls to ruin. What the hell did anyone EXPECT to happen? If they COULD have developed that kind of civilization, if they NEEDED to do it (necessity IS the mother of INVENTION and CHANGE) – IF IF IF, then they WOULD have – like the Chinese did. Chinese had HUGE civilizations. Why? What for? Because they DID – in that specific PLACE, in that environment – what they did naturally – NATURALLY – developed the way it did. Not so in Africa – which is ANOTHER kind of
