Because being English is defined in racial terms, i.e. as being of genetically pure Anglo-Saxon descent, and not in national terms, i.e. I was born in England so I am English, then you can go and shove England up your backside! The Cornish accept anyone as Cornish who goes to live in Cornwall and learns Cornish. The Cornish are not racist. Why is being English defined in racist terms? Could it be because England is a racist state? What about Nigger Watch or Immigration Watch, or whatever you want to call it?
