

Re: moore blabla (Re: Scientists Find Prehistoric Dwarf Skeleton

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.anthropology/2004-11/0095.html>

---

From: Marc Verhaegen (fa204466\_at\_skynet.be)

Date: 11/02/04

Date: Tue, 2 Nov 2004 17:15:50 +0100

"J Moore" <anthrosciguy@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:Vuzhd.90671$%k.82251@pd7tw2no...

> > Try to spell "sebaceous", Moore. Sebaceous glands are typical of semi-aquatic spp that spend a lot of time in water. No wonder humans have more sebaceous glands than chimps.

> I'll try harder on my spelling

Point is, Moore: you're talking about things you don't know anything about.

> , and you can try to learn to spell "okey-dokey", "imbecile"... and now apparently "species".

Biologists often use "spp" & "sp" to discern between plural & singular "species", didn't you know?

Sigh.