

Re: Google Groups Changes?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.archaeology/2005-02/0280.html>

From: Daniel Joseph Min (Real.Min_at_Colorado.USA)

Date: 02/04/05

Date: 4 Feb 2005 02:44:00 -0000

On Thu 3 Feb 2005, "Peter van der Goes" wrote:

>In the fairly recent past, the way Google Groups works seems to have been >changed, reducing the utility from very good to almost nil.
><snippity>
>Is/was there some information provided that will return Google
>Groups to it's former usefulness?

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----

IN STARK CLARITY, in truth, and by way of demonstrable facts, Google intentionally and with malice of forethought censored and obfuscated the ever-burgeoning public newsgroup archives specifically for political reasons. Consider these facts...

"Google" is owned and operated by left-wing liberals, with even the likes of the bitterly-disenfranchised former Vice-President AL GORE among Google's left-wing Senior Advisors. Google's co-founders Larry Page and Sergey Brin are plainly motivated by their reprehensibly left-wing liberal bias and post-election desperation--given that the liberals no longer wield much if any influence on Capitol Hill, whereas moderate Democrats are now well-motivated to distance themselves from the inviably-radical left-wing extremists like Kerry, Kennedy, Boxer et al lunatic fringe terrorist-supporting Bush-bashers, to date, barely clinging to power in the abjectly-failed DNC.

Even though the liberals have NO future in American politics, they're not about to go completely down the tubes without one last-ditch effort to dissuade their powerless ever-dwindling voter-base from jumping the sinking liberal ship, their lost cause which is hemorrhaging both internally -and- externally, daily losing support particularly from the moderate Democrats who've realized that the liberals have hijacked their party, especially since November 7, 2000 and November 2, 2004 which proved irrefutably that ALL liberals are only self-defeating pessimists who have hopelessly alienated themselves from the hopeful and optimistic (mainstream) American political arena.

sci.archaeology: Re: Google Groups Changes?

Thus we see that Google's mediievally-draconian post-election suppression campaign against the more than a quarter-century old newsgroup archives was carefully planned and implemented circa December 1, 2004 when their so-called "beta" kicked in, forcing all local Google "Groups" domains to censor archived