Her book. She sent me the first chapter some two years ago. You can find my recension in the old thread "Enough Inger bashing" via Google Groups.

Didn't you get my e-mail sent via Google? I told you that the answer to that problem is found on the Wikipedia website to which you provided a link (mathematics of sudoku, as I recall). The number of solutions is very high, and has been tackled by means of logic and brute computer power; the magnitude of the number has been confirmed, while the exact figure has not yet been confirmed. I also told you that your question inspired me to look out for a potential Magdalenian puzzle and game. I found one, and published it in my thread "Lascaux, a lunisolar calendar. " Look it up there, and if you like we may play a game via e-mail.
