And they have found some proto-Sumerian text in Peru as well on artifacts and on the rocks there.

This is from Mesopotamia, a cylinder seal and it depicts the Anunaki with the much shorter Olmec.

And here you see an Anunaki with an Elohim

And they are talking about a peace agreement, under the universal government and the winged disk represents the universal government.

Here is another one and look at how butt ugly that Elohim is on the right.

Well they look weird and it would take a bit of getting used to them being around, but they aren't much different than us inside, which is a good thing because you never really know just how strange aliens might be. But the thing is just like all of the life on earth uses the same DNA, things aren't all that different because of intelligent design.

If things spontaneously created themselves from chaos, then things would be really different, but since consciousness is software programming, and genetic code, is digital code, not analog, but digitally encoded information, it shows that some creator is behind it.

Was there an Apollo 20 mission? Well I have heard that there was a parallel space program. Everyone knows that. And it wasn't a public one.

Well as more count
