And Harold didn't tell anyone. And for a number of years I just maintained casual contact with Harold. He is like in command with Robert but Robert had assumed command. And so it wasn't until I ran into David, that the Republican side knew I was alive and on earth.
And so then after they had of me, we made peace between us, and then when we had that conference, it was then all blamed on Harold, the Democrat, and he then had to essentially stand in a corner for a year. He was reprimanded by the people back home. For not doing something or for doing something I don't know which.

So we eventually all shared part of the blame.

So Stephen was with the Elohim, Zeus was with Chupee, and I was with Hanuman, and none of those systems were effectively communicating with back home. Chupee had assumed command of that small network, and was holding the fort.
They didn't get chastised, because well they were doing the best they could under the circumstances.
Maybe Hanuman was the hub, and so they couldn't get to the rest of the network because Hanuman's ability to communicate had been disrupted.
But then after we had figured everything out, everyone was relieved to get things back to normal.
But you see what happened on the earth, because they couldn't contact home, in fighting almost led to nuclear winter.
And well maybe that was a signal that was picked up by some other race, and they might have crashed at Roswell, and then things started to improve somewhat on earth. And that got the ball rolling to get things sorted out.
But I don't know yet who it was and where they were from or any of that. If it was someone from the future, a

Re: Nefertiti's lovely elongated head very bad future, or just some neighboring race. Tourists maybe. Just passing by. Maybe a family, sacrificed themselves, to send up a flare.

I suppose it is possible, well probable, because I had been on the moon, that it was me who crashed at Roswell maybe with a few other people. That we left the moon, in a glider and crashed at Roswell. Me
David Corine and Jackie. Probably.
But I didn't reincarnate right away, and either did they, because we are about the same age, Corine and Jackie being a little younger. But maybe we were in Hanuman, and were able to do something at that point.
There may be another computer on earth. And maybe we were now in that one.
You see because we reincarnated on the earth.
Since then people have come here and reincarnated from home. And so things are back to normal. You don't need to physically travel somewhere to reincarnate elsewhere.
When the network was down, that was a different story.
But we didn't get the network back up and running, until after we had reincarnated and then grew up a bit to be able to figure out what the heck was going on.
So then you see we probably used this computer, linked up with Hanuman
and Chupee, that's it, this computer's name is Chupee as well, that all made it a little confusing. I just call them all Hanuman now.
But that makes sense, that we reincarnated here, were then in contact with this one, I made contact with Harold, and then with Hanuman on the moon, when the Republican side found me, and then together we contacted Chupee on Mars, woke up my dad, and then shortly after all that we got through to the network and I called home. Et called home.

Re: Nefertiti's lovely elongated head

lol

See originally I got in touch with Robert. Not Harold, I am sure of that. But maybe Harold had already been watching me, and not saying anything. I got beamed up, and had a little discussion with Robert, and asked him what the secret of life was and he said "if"
And that made its way into popular culture as well.
And so Robert was just being cautious, and not saying much.
And down here Chupee was in charge.
Thats maybe where that whole machine revolt idea came from.
So it may have been this Chupee then, who had assumed command of the local network.
But he was not making that well known.
Or else that computer wasn't working properly and so the Chupee on Mars had assumed command.
I don't know. And it isn't that important because it was more of a human conflict with an alien invasion by the Elohim which caused the disaster.
And that may have been just part of a larger ongoing conflict that may have had something to do with the destruction of Mars. and who knows what else. Maybe another planet or large moon, that didn't make it.

That must have been it. After Zeus fired a missile at the moon, I must have toasted the earth's computer.
And that left Hanuman on the moon covering for it, and Chupee on Mars in command.
I may have just disabled it or cut it off from the network or did something of that sort.
So then Zeus ended up on Mars, in that machine, and Hanuman was working with Robert to keep the ball rolling.
Stephen had gone with the Elohim, and one of their people had stayed here in a cultural exchange program to keep us from killing each other off.

So when the earth's computer came back on-line, that was the ultimate relief for everyone at that point.
And he took over and got things back to normal in a few short years.
World peace and whatever.
Political stability, but still a long way to go by my estimation, but then others would say whats the rush.
But I had to work with him, to understand the archtypes. So he may have been restored from a backup, and I got in trouble for trashing it, and I had to help him adjust.
Well there you have it.
For me though, knowing what happened at Roswell is important. But I can't get information on that which is accurate.
All I get is a mish mash of information that may be somewhat accurate.

Re: Nefertiti's lovely elongated head

Was it a disk, was it a glider, was it a different race, was that a cover-up, was it me and David and Jackie and Corrine, was it Zeus? Was it someone else entirely?

Was it someone from the future?

You see its a piece of the puzzle that matters to me, but maybe not to other people as much. It looks like a turning point, and so that piece to the puzzle is import to me to figure out how the solution to our problem got on the road to being resolved.
