

Re: Refuting Peter Alaca so that his social pressure comes to naught

Re: Refuting Peter Alaca so that his social pressure comes to naught

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.archaeology/2008-04/msg00665.html>

- From: David <pchristainsen@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 29 Apr 2008 12:50:11 -0700 (PDT)
-

On Apr 29, 3:20 pm, Peter Alaca <p.al...@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

David wrote: on, 29/04/2008 21:12:

...

I am interested in archaeology and learn a lot about it from K. Kris Hirst of about.com.

Name dropping again.

It is nice that you learn a lot about it, but don't bother us with it until you know.

You don't recognize straight talk when you see it.

...

Why can't you get a grip on your emotions?

Why do you think I haven't?

You've been acting like a wild man for months at a stretch.

You are the one who is out of control, not me.

Your comment on the current status of Lascaux would be appreciated. My recent post on the subject reports that since the cave was found in 1940, this treasure from the last Ice Age has suffered more damage than it had in the previous 15,000 years (fungi and bacteria).

Re: Refuting Peter Alaca so that his social pressure comes to naught

...

d.c.

.