Perhaps you'd like to qualify that?

Did you have a bad experience with telescopes.com? Do you know someone who's had a bad experience with telescopes.com? If so, what was that experience? Did you complain? Did you get your money back? Did their customer service agents openly mock you? Did someone from telescopes.com come by your house and set it on fire?

Or are you just in competition with telescopes.com, and anything you say about telescopes.com should be taken with a block of salt? Perhaps you used to work for them, and they fired you, so now every time you hear their name, you spit on the ground? Or maybe you're just crazy, and think that telescopes.com is out to get you.

In the absence of information, we can only speculate.
