

Re: Asians to dominate space too?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.astro.amateur/2006-02/msg01493.html>

- From: "Will Ashton" <zzz@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 19 Feb 2006 20:42:09 GMT
-

"AM" <sctuser@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:Dfmdnd2agYAHD2XeRVn-ug@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

RMOLLISE wrote:

My observation, however? Most schools do one hell of a job, with some people choosing to denigrate teachers and schools because of a particular political axe they have to grind. Teachers are one of those groups that make fine targets because most Americans don't value them very much and they are looked upon as essentially powerless (I am NOT talking about you, of course, I know your dear wife is an educator).

Hi Rod.

If you have or had young kid's in the public school systems in the past ten years, then you would have a different view. (IMHO)

I had numerous interactions with my kid's teachers over the fact that they stated to me early on, that their job was to insure that all the kid's understood others differences, and learned to get along with each other. Which would be fine except..... that the goal of schools is NOT to teach kid's to get along, their job IS to teach them to be productive members of society. Something that seemed alien to them.

I'll never forget a teacher telling me that I had to teach my son that violence was never an accepted means to settle a difference. When I explained that my son was right now watching US air assets bombing Kosovo as per pres Clinton orders, and how was I going to explain that, the teacher said "I never thought about that" I told the teacher she needed take some time out to do some real thinking.....

Re: Asians to dominate space too?

You're way off base here. Trying to "bust" the teacher didn't accomplish anything. What she was trying to convey to you was in personal situations... avoidance of violence among peers which, although can be enforced to a certain extent by the teacher, is still mainly the responsibility of the parents at home.

I have several really terrible stories of teachers blatantly telling my kid's (and others) not to listen to the parents, because times have changed, and they (us parents) dont understand.

Yeah, ok. This is where I stop believing and start dismissing your statements. No evidence nor backing up your claims.

And other instances of teachers getting children to spy on their parents. Or how they tell kid's, if their parents discipline them, to call the police, etc.....

I doubt this, seriously. I think you misinterpreted the actual teachings.

When the schools start undermining a child/parent relationship, like they do all the time here, I have a REAL problem with them !

If this is a true problem in your community, which I seriously doubt, you still have the option of sending your child to a private school.

These are the schools in Fairfax county VA

Which ones?

Yes, we DO have a real educational problem here, and IMHO, the NEA is at the root of it.

Figured that was coming. You have a few problems you can't specify with evidence and then decide to blame the NEA. Smart move.

[rant mode off now]

(rant off now too!)

Re: Asians to dominate space too?

Re: Asians to dominate space too?

Wil

--
AM

<http://sctuser.home.comcast.net>

CentOS 4.2 KDE 3.3

.