Selamat Jarin! We come yet again with more to tell you! In the past few messages, we have described to you some aspects of our fleet operations and the changes taking place in your reality. We would now like to focus on our headquarters on Mars and our base on your Moon. Your Moon is an artificial construct that was created to be a special tactical station attached to Orion Empire fleets of the former Anchara Alliance. It formed part of the fleet that conquered your solar system about 1,000,000 years ago. The Moon's purpose was to be the main defense coordinator for the former planet that was between Mars and Jupiter. When we came to liberate your solar system about 900,000 years ago, this planet and its armed moon were a major threat to our success. Our incoming fleet deployed a powerful battle planet of its own to destroy this Anchara/Orion Empire base; it was reduced to rubble and the result was the Asteroid Belt. The battle moon was temporarily thrown into an erratic solar orbit that ran between Earth and Mars and finally, about 25,000 years ago, was placed into its present orbit as Earth's Moon.

Your Moon is a unique construction. Before it sustained severe battle damage, it had a thick, Earth-like atmosphere and several oceans and seas. Scattered across these seas were many small landmasses where reptilian and dinosaurian engineers created an eco-system similar to ones found on moons in any human-stewarded solar system. The aim behind this terra-forming was to disguise the true purpose of this sphere: beneath this veneer, the Anchara Alliance had constructed a metallic globe out of a special titanium alloy whose special properties could not only greatly magnify the cloaking shield around the main weapons and control stations found in its core, but also maintain the illusion of the Moon as a benign and quite natural satellite. Its interior housed 16 levels containing laboratories, control centers, and 24 major weapon stations. When the Galactic Federation battle planet blasted the Anchara headquarters, this 'moon' fired upon and caused major damage to our battle planet. In the ensuing retaliation, this battle moon was severely damaged and thrown into an orbit between Mars and Earth.

Once in solar orbit, the battle moon was captured and boarded by Galactic Federation forces. It was deeply scarred and adrift. Later, when the Atlanteans and their off-world allies decided to sink Lemuria, this moon was retrieved, partially refitted, and moved to its present spot as a proxy for one of Mother Earth's two natural satellites, both of which had been used in the destruction of Lemuria. This Moon was used until very recently by the Anunnaki and their Anchara Alliance allies as an orbiting base to observe and control what was happening on the surface of Mother Earth. The Moon was now disguised as a lifeless orbiting body, but underneath her surface, the interior base had been completely modernized and organized as a mothership controlling a large, hidden fleet. The remnants of its former luxuriant eco-system were mined for the minerals and ores needed for the constant renovation of the base and its fleet of spacecraft. Then in the early 1970s, the Galactic Federation annexed a section of this inner-Moon base, which then served as our primary headquarters here until the early 1990s.

During this time, we watched the Anunnaki, their Earth minions (your secret government), and elements of the Anchara Alliance work together to control your world and further the dark agenda. Your Ascended Masters told us that this manipulation had been going on for millennia, but was now approaching its prescribed end. The divine timing for this was the first decade of your twenty-first century. Procedures and programs of various sorts already set in motion in your society made this shift inevitable, and our role in this was to move rapidly when so directed by them. We were to remain in place and be always ready to complete first contact when your Ascended Masters gave us their 'go ahead'. Our section of the Moon base was under constant duress from the Anchara Alliance until the mid-1990s. Then the Anunnaki changed sides and helped us to take over the whole Moon base without arousing the suspicions of Earth's humanity. The unified Moon base became the center of our Earth operations.

The Moon base coordinates a number of inner-Earth bases set up at facilities that were created after the fall of Lemuria by its predecessor, Agharta. Here we monitor the hidden activities of your secret government's underground bases and maintain a close and continuous surveillance of your world and the workings of the last remnants of the dark. This last cabal is closely watched for any transgressions it might attempt that go beyond the limits set for it by your Ascended Masters. From our Moon base, we can swiftly interpret their machinations and take decisive countermeasures. Needless-to-say, we prevented many of their more dangerous and heinous plots from manifesting. And in the meantime, their unconscionable agenda had become increasingly apparent to many powerful individuals and groups in your global society, thus allowing our Earth allies to garner new associates from among those who are now deserting this cabal in droves.

While certain important activities, such as the forgoing, are orchestrated from the Moon base, our command center for the entire operation is on Mars, hidden within the vastness of its interior. The constitution of Mars, as previously noted, is quite different from the ecological reports proffered by your science. This misleading charade was intended to keep you believing that you are alone and the only sentient Beings in this solar system. It is part of an extensive system of control to prevent you from stumbling upon any data that could alter your conditioned view of reality. Nevertheless, we do exist and are very close to completing a first contact with you. These proceedings will include an invitation for you to tour the various bases and living facilities engineered by Galactic Federation scientists. The personnel at the Mars base are looking forward to meeting you and showing you their set-up for the first contact mission there.

The Mars base possesses an ongoing terra-forming operation. This is currently being assisted by the growing hyperactivity of your Sun whose flares are causing the Mars atmosphere to come alive. Her upper atmosphere is being ionized, resulting in an accumulation of sliver-thin layers that is gradually preventing harmful radiation from penetrating into the lower atmosphere. This makes her skies appear bluer. Water vapor levels in the lower atmosphere have increased, due to melting ice fields near the polar regions. More frequent Mars-quakes are releasing many gases and interior water vapor into this mix, and we are accelerating the reconstituting of her upper and lower atmospheres by strengthening many of her magnetic surface features.

As you can see, this first contact mission has many aspects, of which the two most important are the stations on your Moon and on Mars. This Moon is filled with historical implications. His 16 levels, each with myriad sub-levels, once housed endless laboratories and testing stations where its former denizens carried out a variety of experiments on your ancestors, and even on you. The horror from these dark procedures still enshrouds many of his lower levels. Our intention is eventually to make this place into a memorial when the world we know as Bellona is restored. This trans-Martian planet was where many of the dark's malevolent plans for this solar system were first hatched. We propose that this planet and its fifth moon have a permanent memorial placed upon them. Remember, Together We are Victorious.

Today, we have taken another look at our bases on your Moon and on Mars. These bases and our entire first contact fleet await your visit. We look forward to the coming celebrations with glee. In this regard, we ask you to stay focused upon and firmly committed to your inevitable victory. We now take our leave. Blessings, dear Ones! Know in your Heart of Hearts that the perpetual Supply and infinite Abundance of Heaven is indeed Yours! Selamat Gajun! Selamat Kasijaram! (Sirian for Be One! and Be Blessed in Love and Joy!)
