This is actually intended for the likes of 'tj Frazir' and other friends of humanity, Stop wasting your talents and whatever resources on the likes of Lord/wizard 'bz', as for this incest cloned borg has disclosed upon a hidden agenda and ulterior motives that'll eat you alive.

No matter's what you've started or merely contributed, the likes of 'bz' will only string you along so far, that is before they start in with their collectivized approved and provided VX gas that's intended to put a stop and/or at least derail whatever your topic or intent of any given topic. Essentially 'bz' sucks whenever it gets down to actually contributing anything that's even coming close to his 'nondisclosure' policy that actually lethal with respect to his sorry butt should something slip out

As you already know better than most, some folks (actually a great many) have a truly sickening and perverted form of humor, as they'll suggest and/or specify upon what's actually public knowledge as from those that already know all there is to know, as though their need-to-know methods of helping a given topic is by way of sharing so damn little that's usually focused upon defending whatever's their position, and if need be by way of 'evidence exclusions', rather than offering a gram towards exploiting upon the possibilities of whatever others are having to offer, and this tactic especially within the highly subjective realm of observationology.

Keeping in mind that folks like 'bz' seldom originate a topic but seemingly arrive like ETs coming out of nowhere with their all-knowing vaporware, as focused onto the given topic scene after the fact and then seldom if ever contribute squat that doesn't fully comply with their NASA/Apollo approved bible of 'so what's the difference' and of their supposed 'high standards and accountability' that subsequently needs that nifty amendment of 'up yours', especially applied whenever there's without a stitch of hard-science that you're bring thought of as having WMD. Sorry folks, but that sucks ripe and big time, especially when there are so many dead and otherwise dying bodies of friends and perfectly innocent folks surrounding the one and only smoking gun as well as their bloody feet.

Unlike what Lord/wizard 'bz' has suggested, I'm certainly not the one that's trying to change the laws of physics to suit anything, just trying to apply them without their usual social/political conditions that so happen to suit their mainstream status quo of whatever our perpetrated cold-war(s) and of so much other collateral damage and strife that so happens to include the ongoing carnage of the innocent, as such having to offer their side of a given argument merrit that's clearly against humanity is absolutely 'Hitler' sick, though apparently of which the likes of 'bz' sees absolutely nothing whatsoever improper nor the least bit worth a gram of remorse about our past, present nor future that's become beyond sucking for those that are either dead or about to die for no apparent good reason. As it's just another 'bz' status quo of business as usual all the way into the intellectual space-toilet of life as seen fit by those directly and indirectly (like 'bz') having remained as resident whatever administration supportive and thereby more than willing to continue the great ruse/sting of the century without a stitch of hard-science, much less remorse.

That puts the likes of 'bz' way past the realm of just being immorally sick to the soul.

Now it seems the likes of Lord/wizard 'bz' is (without ever once asking) proclaiming without ever putting up or even so much as suggesting squat of their own image interpretation as proof on their side of the argument, that I don't have a freaking clue as to interpreting a hard-science worth upon whatever an 8-bit and 12 looks/pixel radar image that was obtained at roughly 43° as for accomplishing a damn near 3D look-see at what's most likely artificial and/or even as to contemplating as to whatever's perfectly natural but extremely interesting about Venus. This two-faced nutbag discredits whatever and whomever suits a perverted criteria of snookering thy humanity. Well damn, the only village idiot 'fool on the hill' that's being snookered this time around isn't me, and I certainly hope 'tj Frazir' is not falling for any of his certified crapolla either.

As far as I can tell, the only actual flames coming out of this forum that sucks are those being fueled along by the 'bz' intellectual flatulence that'll accomplish whatever it takes to disqualify every other honest soul upon Earth, and if that's something unacceptable for myself to be sharing and stating, then so be it. This would not be the first bridge that I've burned and, it probably will not be my last.

This closing part is being contributed for the ongoing benefit of others (news media and general topic newcomers), and not that it matters to those without a stitch of remorse outside of whatever appeases their NASA/Apollo cold-war or bust God, as in spite of their flak having the intent as to kill-off my PC if not myself, within my spare dyslexic time I've slightly polished on my external 'gv-topics' page, and I'm working on other pages as soon to be improved. As I learn more that can be independently supported by sufficient hard-science, I'll share that knowledge, which will likely include revisions and retractions of what I've offered thus far. Unfortunately, since I'm unfunded and on the usual 'need-to-know' bases with regard to anything that might rock a mainstream boat, this process is going to take many thousands of my lose cannon shots before the truth and nothing but the truth is going to be told. And I bet you thought the likes of big and fully loaded aircraft smashing into fully occupied tall buildings was as bad as it gets; think again.
