It was that way sometimes in history that neighbors hated each other and reported one another as jews to the fascist government. People were taken by trucks and never seen again. It was that way when the Gestapo walked and patrolled and commanded the street that had curfues, and killed people freely as the gestapo was the boss (the street Taliban in modern terms, ultimate power in the racially chosen German in uniform). Sometimes people hated each other racially, and in no better occasions the sentiment became the only military force than during World War II. Today 80–90 percent of Arabs think negatively of Americans along with the world (while in the past Arabs thought positively of Americans). A sentiment exploded and intends to rule biggotly over Arabs and erect an Iraq that is a model for the whole Arab world, a model that is better than what Bushtapo sees over there as Feurer (the department is always right). A racist sentiment by an empire, a govern–mental United States is known to jail for sentiment, tripple the convictions of Mexicans for minor crimes and not arrest the white man of horrific crimes committed in the empirical preferred skin and nationalistic contents. The dues of citizenry, a Fascist Capitalist or Comminist rule of law that feeds barbaric unity and iron military that as empires arose to fight and the course is taken to the end. A risen empire finds its street fascism and curfews, a stalking of order, the iron curtain of a higher community, one of a gestapo, arises as a threatening place of stalking, reporting, racism and conspiracies, enemies are labeled as jews and are pursued relentlessly, their connection to the street is attempted to be disconnected, the telephones in the abuse departments are ringing on old black telephones and the fascist police runs outside from the police station to deal with the situation swiftly and arrogantly.

Violence is everywhere and neighbors turn against neighbors in namecalling. People are taken away, if many, the local fishermen are hired to assist the police as volunteer policemen, and they use their fishing nets to catch many people in the street. With cigarettes hanging in their mouths the fishermen drag their catch to a truck and dump the fishes. At the police station in a dark room a strong light is shone on the suspects, and they are interrogated, inspected before they are canned as sardines in the back of the building by the wall.
The
lucky ones are let back into the streets as too small, too immature, 12 year olds. "Go" – the gestapo says. "Out".
In federalism, the world only knows those reporting others for mini problems. Suspicion is high, the streets are quiet at night. An imminent atmosphere of discrimination, racism, reports, a dark world sets in on the Internet, and citizenry seeks its ways to advocate reportism, passportism, documentism, hatism, and believes abuse department that the abuse (jew) is again causing crimes of ripping off and stealing from the community. Black lists are everywhere. People's names are listed and are sought for who knows what. It is a horrible Internet.

Re: Racist societies and stalking aspects, long black coats and black cars in the night

I spoke of fishing nets. The first anti-Iraq war protesters in DC were arrested using fishing nets. The newspapers did not write about this for three weeks, and the newspaper owners claimed the public is simply not interested in hearing about this news.

It was the atmosphere of a classic coup, one like in Moscow when the communists tried to retake the soviet government and announced that Gorbachev fell ill.

When they asked the police why people were arrested, the police said that there was one car that was parked illegally, and they determined that the protesters were upholding traffic.

The Soviet Union of Capitalism doesn't kill protesters, but hey this is still a big government. And you are stalking psychopaths Americans, violating human rights you fascists, I will eat you.

They still have a big government system that discriminately rages wars, lies, has a political curtain of secrets, a country whose police and prison system is based on beatings and cruelties. In other words the United States.
