The memories of the human side, is of polish concentration camps.
US, UK, Spain, France.

Also Sweden. Probably Norway.

Moved into Bush's never ending story.

Gone. Never returned. Chose the life of a split society of fame, no
smoking,
police ignorance.

There is only one characteristic of these countries. Under a two party system they gave precedence to one party's 1st class citizenry.

And that is the revelation.

Windcupters, millions of windmills of shapes are a great icon to annoy
big brother and to build free energy, a complete solution using controlled temperature two heat pumps to use temperature and pressure to get water from the air (this is not a sect, this is a regime
that does not give precedence to big power and guns).

In days of slavery big power and guns ruled against all arguments that are dieing today.

Water can be heated by heat pumps. Two heat pumps are needed so multiple operations can be performed (heating water, heating home, humidifying air, bringing water from the air into the house) and these controlled temperature heat pumps should work 6 times cheaper than current heating costs in the US.
Operated by solar panels now as before that cost was too expensive in terms of solar panels. Free heating, cooling, air conditioning, filtered drinking water, heated water.

Re: Humanity says: stop profiling people on the Internet you don't know

The greatest windmill is like a wild oar rotating on a fire, but this metal stick has four flat plates attached and the bottom half below the stick that would hold the wild oar would be covered from the winds. The large flat plates react to the slightest winds very easily. This is a much more powerful windmill design than the ones rotating standing. This one lays long with four wide plates on a stick that would rotate the wild oar. Many of these windmills can align one after the other to fill a farm field and as the air moves above the plates, the plates are not effected from one to the next much as the air overall is not slowed and the top half of the plates always catch the moving air. Windmills can also have floors with space above the top plates for the wind to pass through freely. A 10 megawatt powerplant can be built on an ordinary farm, allowing electricity for 9000 homes, and the building cost of this power plant is a fraction of power plants today. Cheap electricity, and a lot of free features is a start.

Social care, free medicine, doctors not influenced by big brother but free to 'assist', separation of state and church and returning to real science is a must. Big brother can pork and fart to death.

Also remember that you may need to buy your own copper wire and magnets to build the cheapest electric generators. The cost is very low, specific instructions on how to build the electric generator are found online. I believe the greatest future however may be in cheaper solar panels, where a person can install small tiny panels on a project bases to replace all bedroom lights one by one as if installing a satellite dish. $100 per bedroom and going toward free energy for under $20000 for a house that includes the heat pumps, free water, heated water, free lighting with the solar panels, and cheap electricity that can power large batteries in a car in the future. The car might generate it's own hydrogen using this battery run-time. Meaning with the speed of the gas pedal, electrolysis creates hydrogen gas that is fed directly to the engine and no hydrogen tank is needed. Water is taken from the air using two controlled temperature heat pumps that are also used to heat/cool a car. Hybrid technologies can help to bring back electricity, but a hydrogen fuel injection car that uses electrolysis always runs on hydrogen fuel injection. Even today as gas prices have risen, electrolysis comes to 2-4 dollars a gallon of gas equivalent in hydrogen made from water from electricity in the battery. 2-4 dollars of US electricity for hydrogen that runs a car for as much as a gallon of gas would. The electricity required for electrolysis comes to what you pay at home 2–4 dollars. The water comes extremely cheap from the air with the heat pumps controlling temperature and pressure, as clouds form, gallons of water can be extracted per minute with a penny or less of electricity per gallon of water from dry air. With extreme dry air a bit more electricity is used, but should work under 10 percent air humidity efficiently (places like in Sudan).

Boats can use rotating windmills or wind 'cups' to directly run the back propellers in the water.

Biggy biggy brother brother, always always protocol protocol, a system not abandoned, a system of dominating power, running wars like the biiggets brother of all. Just how low?

Did Timothy McVeigh attack with the whole American world?
It can't be that low?

But it is. Discrimination (of power) out of control. Everything is his.

How to build a flying machine for $100. Sit in it and fly anywhere, safely and comfortably to bring rise to the Windcuppers whose kids run around on roof tops in suburbs where friends who get together and want to go out driving can get arrested for 'cruising'. Big brother maintains quiet streets and murderously decline all humanity for a protocol:

I don't know.

But crimes against humanity occurred.
