From the story of
Bush wanting only private medicine to all,

ancient barbarism seeks more and fights to create a whore.

This. World.

Of taker stalkers, barbarians, people of governments and power, one that takes that through cannibalism and kills them all.

Just as a formality: Suck your Booglebush, 'Christian' oriented inquisitor, Google informant and power psychopath.

Isn't that nice?

Not religious. Couldn't take it. But it's worse in realism, taken over in laughter of psychos, a disturbing world opens full of that witchcraft.

Ideas arising to barbaric psychosis, chronic disillusion, paranoia, a world of witchcraft, reality strange, unknown. A feeling opens, life seems lost, anything can happen, a normal life taken over by deep senses, thoughts, and lack of connection, all seems to fall into a primitive realm, a sense of I and them, in a barbaric

Re: 3 evil axes of humanity: Bush, Google, sectarianism and children country where guns rule, 6 years of thought, though they say it took Jesus 3 weeks to find himself, all alone in the world of God. And off he went, teaching of love, an emptiness in mind leading thoughts. An emptiness that is a new feeling, one of an eye in the world, that sees what others not, a loneliness mixed with ideas, criminal things are seen better, and a hallucinative state of a distant world, though a sense of religion and spirituality, lives on and off, as interesting ideas occupy, and things worsen when a psychopath who sees something completely different arrives in the world of darkness. Speculations of reality, beyond reality. Theories, that's all, but one brief insane cry in a nut house by one person brings a feeling of surprise. No, this is not the same me, and I have my own problems, like Bush in his empire, barbarism relates to what I kept far in the past in simple ridicule. A religious curiosity, consumed by things that don't seem right, the world is not fine, so evil is learned, and history revised, such things bring fear to understand a crazy person, though they didn't speak directly to me in the past, the situation is not that bad, more like a reality as seen, one seeks a better image, but can't. Like becomes a back and forth game of pain in Google's database, trapped, and want to escape like an animal whose leg is held captive by a crazy person who comes as a welcome to the world of scum aptitude and uses all his devil power to inflict pain. In the world of crazy people, one doesn't want to get stuck. But when that is the case, for barbaric inclinations of profit, brutality is learned, though selfish interests don't change. A use of mind to seek advance, a private life full of the horrible sides in mind, good ideas arrive. But it is this place of a primitive stalking madness that suck you in to that world of dementia where it possesses in ways one sees hell and speaks as that, though people don't see him, but believe him as most believe most things they see as something better. A rich world of madness exists, that is not the key to a man with a Summa Cum Laude to fit into, ever so to speak. But the possessive spirits come, as your trap takes over you, where you don't want to relate, you constantly work your brain at what you in the past ignored in a healthy way. Psychology was boring to me, a profession for women and highly strange men.

You always think you are more, and years later that turns out to be not true. One is beaten for lack of that in the mind of a psycho who looks down on you, but his ku klux klan speaks for his level of intelligence.

Humanity, human rights, and a Kurd. Duh, I realize. But a barbaric pervasive psychopath as Google has that tendency to hurt in a religious form and this psycho "Booglebush the threat nazi" felt he is a Google guy in heart and stone. A conflict, while Google approached my sister over and over to offer her a job. She is in Switzerland now she
