

Re: Robot Evolution

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.bio.evolution/2006-12/msg00325.html>

- From: "Kent Paul Dolan" <xanthian@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 27 Dec 2006 02:03:29 -0500 (EST)
-

John Edser wrote:

No answer was provided (just rhetorical assertions).

I didn't bother to read your answer, because you failed to bother to comprehend mine.

My reason that mathematics is incomplete cites a precise _mathematical_ reason that mathematics is incomplete, a reason that was published by Kurt Goedel in the form of a formal mathematical proof that completely changed the future course of mathematics, a proof well known to anyone with even a minimal grasp of college mathematics.

Yours, since you rejected Goedel's proof due to your being unable to comprehend it or even recognize it by name, is left being mere uninformed opinionated innumerate blather by someone incompetent to do mathematics, you, about why mathematics is incomplete.

That you prefer your innumerate blather to Goedel's formal mathematical proof speaks volumes about your failures to do the research you claim as your profession, about your gross pan-situational incompetence, and about your pathetic vastly self-documented innumeracy.

But, of course, you ENJOY providing such proofs of your status as an incorrigible professional Time Wasting Moron.

It would be mean spirited of me indeed to resist providing future opportunities (read "bait") for you to use to make a fool of yourself in public on other topics.

You do that demonstration of your membership in the league of bell capped caperers, so well, and so consistently, too, and you just cannot resist rising to the bait.

However, you have taken this discussion clear off topic for this newsgroup, so I'll be ignoring your future unceasingly INFANTILE attempts to prove yourself correct by sheer droning relentless repetitive imbecility when, as ever, you are abjectly the opposite of "correct" and seen so by everyone concerned or looking on except yourself.

Your insanity in this regard is NOT MY PROBLEM.

HTH, HAND, JNOMCS

xanthian.

.