

Re: Looking for Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal

Re: Looking for Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.chem/2005-08/msg00925.html>

- From: "Dr. Dickie" <Dr_Dickie@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 30 Aug 2005 12:57:51 -0400
-

"Mark Jones" <abuse@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:7KednVj-ifcDFYneRVn-rQ@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
> sal wrote:
>> Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal
>>
>> Greetings, All
>>
>> I have a car that runs on vegetable oil and diesel the thing is I need to >> Pre heat the vegetable oil to around boiling before I can switch over to >> Running the car only on vegetable oil. I would like to have a coil filled >> with >> a substance
>> in may car trunk that will boil hot enough and safe enough to keep the >> Vegetable oil at boiling temperatures all the time does anyone know
>> Of such a substance that's not nuclear :-)
>>
>> TIA
>
>
> Instead of heating it, can you reduce the air (vapor) pressure to it? I'm not > sure at what pressure it would boil at room temperature, but that sounds much > safer than heating oil in the trunk...

Why not run the tubing past the exhaust system.
Run on diesel until warm, then switch over!
That way only a small amount is heated.

—
Dr. Dickie
Skepticult member in good standing #394-00596-438
Poking kooks with a pointy stick

Re: Looking for Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal

- References:

- ◆ Re: Looking for Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal

- ◆ From: Mark Jones

- Prev by Date: Re: Copper Sulfate, Calcium Chloride, Aluminium, what happened?

- Next by Date: Re: Remove Lead (i.e. Pb) marks from an enamel bathtub?????

- Previous by thread: Re: Looking for Substance that will boil at room temperture tia...sal

- Next by thread: Remove Lead (i.e. Pb) marks from an enamel bathtub?????

- Index(es):

- ◆ Date

- ◆ Thread