

Re: Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD) Research

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.chem/2005-12/msg00116.html>

---

- From: <HLS@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Wed, 07 Dec 2005 12:51:05 GMT
-

"Andrew Valencik" <Andrew.Valencik@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1133925637.372339.268280@xx>

> Now I'm not asking anyone to do the research for me, but if anyone > knows any information it would be greatly appreciated. Thanks.

Actually, I think you ARE asking others to do your footwork for you.

Much of the information you mention is so readily available that most competent, or even semicompetent, chemists would be able to recite it from memory.

There are tons of information out there.

.

---

• References:

- ◆ Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD) Research
    ◆ From: Andrew Valencik

- Prev by Date: Re: Sodium picosulphate
- Next by Date: Will hot platinum oxidize nitrogen in air?
- Previous by thread: Re: Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD) Research
- Next by thread: Re: Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD) Research
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread