

Re: How to reduce radiation in Zircon.

Re: How to reduce radiation in Zircon.

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.chem/2007-04/msg00267.html>

- From: "N:dlzc D:aol T:com \(\dlzc\)" <dlzc@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 25 Apr 2007 17:54:47 -0700
-

Dear hon123456:

"hon123456" <peterhon321@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1177493779.481122.31500@xx>

As I know, some Zircon contains radiation level that is exceed safety level. I want to find information how to reduce the radiation level of Zircon. Please suggest any website or resource that is talking about how to reduce the radiation level of Zircon.

Nothing you can do except dissolve it into lower activity zircon until the threshold is passed. Or use it in applications where it is going to be irradiated anyway, such as containments for plutonium, uranium, cesium, etc.

David A. Smith

.