

Re: MAKING CHLORINE FOR A POOL

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.chem/2008-10/msg00054.html>

- From: "N:dlzc D:aol T:com \(\dlzc\)" <dlzc1@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 6 Oct 2008 19:37:48 -0700
-

Dear justme:

"justme" <jbleaux@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:28b689.ero.17.1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

Is there an easy and cheap way to make liquid chlorine in sufficient quantities to treat a 50,000 gallon pool?

Now, kiddies, go ahead and say buy it.

How about chlorine gas? I am aware of the dangers.

There are many choices:

- make ozone instead
- buy a salt water pool chlorinator (you generate oxides of chlorine and free chlorine in a brine solution)

David A. Smith

.