

Re: Challenge to the behaviourists #2

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.cognitive/2004-09/0347.html>

From: Glen M. Sizemore (gmsizemore2_at_yahoo.com)

Date: 09/11/04

Date: 11 Sep 2004 11:25:13 -0700

C'mon Vern, this is just that simplistic conditioning stuff and a few > drug effects on simplistic conditioning stuff. Why, with your > sophisticated knowledge of the really complex stuff, this should be a > breeze.

JV: So I must assume that the behaviorist elite needed perform all those experiments to find out, just because they are too stupid to predict the obvious right away.

GS: If the outcomes are obvious, you should be able to tell me what they are.

JV: Maybe that's why their status has declined ever since.

GS: No, the scant attention paid by many to behaviorism is very much like the scant attention paid to Darwinism by fundamentalists.

JV: But I'm interested in the results of those particular pigeoneqsue experiments and their conclusions.

GS: What are the outcomes, and how would you predict them?

"JPL Verhey" <matterDELminds@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:<414197c2$0$62374$5fc3050@dreader2.news.tiscali.nl>...