

Re: Neural netss (was Re: death of the mind.)

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.cognitive/2004-09/0850.html>

From: Wolf Kirchmeir (wwolfkir_at_sympatico.ca)

Date: 09/26/04

Date: Sun, 26 Sep 2004 11:42:10 -0400

Lester Zick wrote:

> On Sat, 25 Sep 2004 18:38:58 -0400, Wolf Kirchmeir

> <wwolfkir@sympatico.ca> in comp.ai.philosophy wrote:

>

>

>> When I ask you what you mean by some term, I usually intend "What are you >> referring to?"

>>

>> So: what do you mean "self contradiction"?

>

>

> No, Wolf, you aren't pulling this shit on me. I raised the issue to > find out what behaviorism's doctrine is on the subject and its origin > and impact on behavior, not what mine is. I know what mine is. Self > contradiction is probably the oldest standard of truth in the history > of science. If you don't know what it means either behaviorism has no > doctrine on the mechanical origin of the effect or you don't know what > it is. In either case, you're not competent to discuss it.

>

> Regards – Lester

I know what "self-contradiction" means in normal discourse. I don't know what you mean by it, is all.