

Re: von Mises Institute on Henry George

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.econ/2004-08/1337.html>

---

From: robert j. kolker (nowhere_at_nowhere.net)

Date: 08/24/04

Date: Mon, 23 Aug 2004 21:31:47 -0400

royls@telus.net wrote:

> No. Market price does not depend on the sellers' efforts, only on > their willingness to sell.

What about sellers who sell what they make. Their efforts most certainly do go into reckoning their price. Since they know (by hypothesis) what effort is required to make what they are selling that surely should influence their willingness to sell at a given price.

Bob Kolker