

Re: Why socialized medicine is inevitable

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.econ/2005-02/2791.html>

From: MS (mikesc_at_iname.com)

Date: 02/23/05

Date: Wed, 23 Feb 2005 12:49:17 GMT

Socialism is a Mental Disease wrote:

> On Tue, 22 Feb 2005 06:56:05 GMT, MS <mikesc@iname.com> wrote:

>

>> Socialism is a Mental Disease wrote:

>>

>>> On Tue, 22 Feb 2005 05:04:55 GMT, MS <mikesc@iname.com> wrote:

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>>> And you've never said that before? What a zinger!

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>>

>>>>> You often need the advice, unfortunately!

>>>>>

>>>>

>>>> That's the first time you've told me I need medication.

>>>> You've said that to several others.

>>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> Ok, you got it.

>>>

>>>

>>>

>>>> Usually you alternate between >>>> calling me a genius, a moron, and a retard.

>>>>

>>>

>>>

>>> Yeah, I have a problem with those that want to restrict my freedom.

>>>

>>

>> I don't want to restrict your freedom.

>>

>

>

> Of course you do, you stupid piece of shit! You want to make me a

sci.econ: Re: Why socialized medicine is inevitable > slave to support other people's healthcare through taxes

You already do, dummy (and not just for medicaid and medicare).

People pay taxes for all sorts of things that they don't use, which you probably do. However, childish, self centered people like yourself want to have their cake and eat it, too. That's not the way it is, or ever will be...

That aside, you're already paying taxes (if you actually do pay taxes at all) for other people's health care. (I don't just mean medicaid and medicare either).

So guess what, dummy: you're already a slave for health care users and health care providers, but were too dumb to know it.

and you want > to even control who I can buy insurance from.

Are you hearing voices in your head? When did I ever imply that? In countries with national health insurance people can and do purchase insurance from different companies.

Cheers,