

Re: keyboards

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.basics/2006-09/msg00159.html>

---

- From: "Jon Slaughter" <Jon\_Slaughter@xxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 3 Sep 2006 11:18:52 -0500
-

"Eeyore" <rabbitsfriendsandrelations@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:44FAE92D.C44CF22A@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Jon Slaughter wrote:

I took all the keys out and cleaned everything using an air compressor.

That blew the shit further into the gubbins !

how could any liquid really short out anything?

Doesn't have to. All it needs to do is provide a conductive path to mess things up.

heh. ok... and how is that different than what I've said?