Re: Need source for carbon paint to fix remotes.

Source: http://sci.tech−archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.basics/2007−02/msg01464.html

- From: MassiveProng <MassiveProng@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
- Date: Tue, 27 Feb 2007 16:51:08 −0800

On Tue, 27 Feb 2007 09:58:52 −0500, clutch@xxxxxxxxx Gave us:

> I saw on web that MCM sells a recarboning kit. I assume it is a paint > but anyway, I can not find it. The remote has some carbon buttons > 1/16" in diameter which I would like to repaint it possible. Gluing > tin foil might be hard.
>
> Ideas, links?
>
> Thanks,
>
> Wes

Cheaper just to get the model and buy a new remote, or just get a universal remote.

All that time, and the cost of hunting down the crap, and then the cost of buying it...

Sheesh... my personal time is worth more than that.
.