

Re: How much current safe for 30m extension?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.components/2005-02/0273.html>

From: John Rumm (see.my.signature_at_nowhere.null)

Date: 02/12/05

Date: Sat, 12 Feb 2005 22:12:44 +0000

ehsjr@bellatlantic.net wrote:

- > I think installing a half mile of # 4 might be "politically" cost
- > prohibitive, regardless of the technical merits. And I doubt
- > it would be a good financial solution. How many times
- > can you replace the batteries for the cost of digging a
- > 1/4 mile trench, and installing conduit, cable, fittings,
- > transformers, etc ?

For that money you could buy the PBX a UPS all of its very own!

--

Cheers,

John.

```
/=====\
|           Internode Ltd - http://www.internode.co.uk           |
|-----|
|           John Rumm - john(at)internode(dot)co(dot)uk           |
\=====/
```