

Re: OT: America is Ticking Timebomb Thanks to Bush Corruption

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2004-10/1562.html>

---

From: Tom Seim (soar2morrow\_at\_yahoo.com)

Date: 10/05/04

Date: 4 Oct 2004 18:10:39 -0700

Fred Bloggs <nospam@nospam.com> wrote in message news:<41603BD9.6090404@nospam.com>...

> Tom Seim wrote:

> >> *Here is what your Bush "boy" has done– and that is precipitate an > >> economic collapse. If you think the west is *ever* going to have access > >> to Iraqi oil under this plan, you can guess again. When it gets to the > >> point that women and children become suicide bombers, the game is over.
> >> A population driven to that level of insane desperation will burn that > >> oil before you or anyone in the west can get your thieving, greedy hands > >> on it – and that's a fact. They will destroy the oil fields, they will > >> sabotage the pumping stations, they will blow up the pipelines, they > >> will blow up the storage tanks, they will blow up the ports, and they > >> will sabotage and sink the oil tankers– causing massive environmental > >> damage. And now that Iraq has become the rallying place and proving > >> ground for more terrorists than the world has ever seen– it is only a > >> matter of time before Saudi Arabia goes too.*

>>

>>

>> Fred,

>>

>> Better check your facts before embarrassing yourself. Iraqi crude oil >> production is nearly back up to pre-war levels, even with all the >> bests efforts of the terrorists to stop it:

>>

>> <http://www.eia.doe.gov/emeu/ipsr/t11a.xls>

>>

>> Tom

>

> You call what is clearly falsified data from the Bush administration > facts? These people have been caught in lie after lie after lie. What do > you think about the US Agency for International Aid and Development > recently downgrading their estimate of Iraqis employed by them by nearly > 50%? Sounds like a whopping big error to me– looks like the Bush > propagandists released their original report too early– God forbid > people actually checked up on them and exposed the fraud. Now USAID is > scrambling to salvage credibility– their position is hopeless– and > another US agency bites the dust. This from the Brookings Institute.

- > Iraq is a training ground for infrastructure disruption strategy, and
- > successful strategies at that, that will soon be employed throughout the - > middle East to destroy the western economies. Saudi Arabia is down to
- > 0.6Mbdpd excess capacity which means NO ROOM TO MANEUVER. The very dire
- > predictions by those who know this industry inside and out is that when
- > you reach the coincidence of peak production, supply chain bottleneck,
- > and demand– the system will implode quite rapidly with skyrocketing
- > prices and economic collapse.
- >
- > <http://www.brook.edu/fp/saban/luftmemo20040617.htm>

[blah, blah, blah]

Fred,

You said

- > > A population driven to that level of insane desperation will burn that
- > > oil before you or anyone in the west can get your thieving, greedy hands
- > > on it – and that's a fact.

Now you quote an article that says they are producing 1.95 mbd and exporting half that. Well, which is it?

Tom