

Re: If Kerry is elected...

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2004-10/4384.html>

From: John Larkin (jjlarkin_at_highlandSNIPtechTHISnologyPLEASE.com)

Date: 10/16/04

Date: Sat, 16 Oct 2004 09:16:13 -0700

On Sat, 16 Oct 2004 13:30:49 +0200, "Frank Bemelman"

<f.bemelmanx@xs4all.invalid.nl> wrote:

>"John Larkin" <jjlarkin@highlandSNIPtechTHISnologyPLEASE.com> schreef in >bericht news:rmc1n014a74t4l2apkatpn1ljfpi6hada9@4ax.com...

>> On Sat, 16 Oct 2004 05:12:05 GMT, Fred Bloggs <nospam@nospam.com>

>> wrote:

>>

>>>

>>>

>>> John Larkin wrote:

>>>

>>>> That's what any good manager does. Only insecure people insist on >>>> surrounding themselves by people who are dumber than they are.

>>>>

>>>> John

>>>>

>>>> What's this smarter/dumber stuff– what kind of insecure idiot would even >>>> make a comparison with himself like that? It's about as relevant as >>>> wondering "is he/she taller than me?"– pathetic.

>>>>

>>>> You don't believe that some people are smarter than others? If you >>>> don't, why do you keep calling people idiots?

>>>>

>>>> I work with, and employ, people who have analytic and business skills >>>> far beyond anything I can ever hope to have. I let them do the heavy >>>> thinking. It's fun – usually – to work with very smart people.

>

>Ah, the 'fun' bit. Let's have some 'fun'. Are we having 'fun' yet.

>

>>

>> But everything I do is wrong, isn't it?

>

>Why bother, as long as you have 'fun'.

Gosh, you really don't believe in enjoying life, do you?

sci.electronics.design: Re: If Kerry is elected...

Would you please explain for us all how being personally miserable improves the world? I didn't care a lot for Hubert Humphrey, but I did like his description of himself as the