

Re: JT is a dilettante

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2004-11/1179.html>

---

From: Product developer (jdurban\_at\_vorel.com)

Date: 11/03/04

Date: 3 Nov 2004 09:50:37 -0800

xray <notreally@hotmail.invalid> wrote in message news:<qb2ho09cnqr3hdhit7vho2s40ubft3ni52@4ax.com>...
> On 2 Nov 2004 21:37:43 -0800, jdurban@vorel.com (Product developer)
> wrote:
>
> >One would have to smoke a bag of pot a day to be able to see the world > >through the Grise or Bloggs prism. They are kept down by the man and > >the industrial complex run proletariat. In other words Bush is > >responsible for their inability to participate in the game called > >life.
>
> I don't smoke pot anymore. Haven't done since the early 70's. But if I > had your view of what the world is about, I might try almost anything.
>
> Now that I think about it, I guess it makes sense. You tried fear, hate > and greed and so far it is fulfilling you.

Sorry but I was not addressing you. You are still 12db below the noise floor here just parroting Fred Bloggna. Bloggna is like bologna but with a pinch of self-projected failure and hatred.

But if you are interested, my life is 100% fulfilled. There's no hate, no greed, and as one who puts it all on the line in business and on every Friday and Sunday playing Soccer with some the best players of yesteryear from all over the world I have little fear.

The way to a fulfilled life is honesty, passion, and unbridled commitment. Be honest to yourself, your beliefs, your family, and certainly in business. Honesty keeps you from buying your own bullshit. Give more to life than you take and you will receive more in return than you will ever need. Be a care giver and not a caretaker. Liberals enslave by their need to be elitists caretakers.

Study those who are good and decent examples of achievement and humanity when possible. There are a few in here that I consider role models. Jim Thompson, John Fields, and Phil Hobbs come to mind. I once made the mistake of swapping the names "Hobbs with Bloggs" in a similar caffeine induced diatribe. What a monstrous error that was!

Hobbs is a brilliant optics and electro-optics engineer and author and Bloggs is well, I still can't figure him out.

If a few in this group were honest with themselves they would realize that their lot in life is of their own doing and not some guy in the Whitehouse. All the concocted fables about Bush lies and conspiracies from the impotent left only resonated with like minds. Election results confirm this.

When you operate from a position of inner turmoil and hatred you get the following example.

In one my exchanges with Fred Bloggs I mentioned that one of my greatest pleasures in life is working with kids. I coach and train kids from 9 yrs to college, soccer and work with troubled youth.

Because Fred operates from a premise of evil and his heart is dead, he said that I fit the profile of a child molester. Here was an opportunity for this guy to have an exchange on a level of humanity never reflected in his soulless posts yet he defaulted to expressing his inner self image. People project who they are knowingly or not. This poor bastard is a mess and I have to wonder if he is playing out a scene from the Deer Hunter a day after his views were soundly rejected by the electorate.

This concept is foreign to many on the left but natural law is an ideal model for a happy life. There are no freebies, handouts, or programs in nature. Hunger and reproduction are the only motivators. If you don't eat or mate you die without a trace. There's no government extorting money from producers or collectives taking contributions to feed the lazy squirrel who failed to store nuts for winter.

In my life there is no greater motivator than poverty. Take away that great motivator through government handouts and you end up with the mess we have today. The enslavement of generations and the steady march towards socialism.

Too many people are shielded from failure through unions and taxpayer funded programs.

Like extortionists, the bribe they accept today is never enough tomorrow.

Onward