

Re: seeking graphical LCD with built-in controller

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-03/0570.html>

From: Yef (e97y_at_yahoo.com)

Date: 03/02/05

Date: 2 Mar 2005 11:38:50 -0800

Well, if the computer inside the display is halfway decent, i.e. if it's for instance an ARM with a good chunk of RAM and flash, that would be sufficient. But I rather doubt that's the case with these things and I would guess that the manufacturer would offer no guarantees about the internal computer since their offer would be more to provide a reliable interface and understandable command set.