

Re: OT: Dogbert's New Ruling Class Newsletter, April, 2005

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-04/msg02674.html>

- From: Scott Stephens <scottxs@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 13 Apr 2005 23:18:41 -0600
-

Adams is a self-hating nihilist.

<http://www.dilbert.com>

Quoting DNRC:

"

DNRC UPDATE Dogbert's New Ruling Class boasts 464,000 members. Each of you has so much magnetic personality that iron-rich meteorites from distant galaxies are being pulled toward the earth, ensuring the total annihilation of future generations who, I think you'll agree, have it coming.

See?!?! Adams hates everyone and everything, his sense of life is a zero-sum kleptocracy. People that believe in predators and prey, victimizing and victims, that make life malevolently evil.

Intelligent, rational beings that revere themselves and have rational values are not dishonestly trying to cheat others out of esteeming themselves and their values, as Adams and the pervasive post-modern nihilists do.

I imagine that a few thousand years from now, when scientists have learned to manipulate DNA, we'll be launching evolution programs into the cosmos, programmed to seek any planet that has the right environment. The rocket will land and spill its primordial goo, programmed with evolutionary preferences such as gender, eyeballs, limbs, mobility, and the urge to sit in cubicles while complaining about coworkers.

Re: OT: Dogbert's New Ruling Class Newsletter, April, 2005

Nihilist would rather destroy life, to prevent competition from other life they assume must be evil too (the classic "Dark Star" epitomizes it).

we're spectacularly vain, so we'd write the DNA program to turn out that way. There'd be no point in going to all that trouble just to create the Giant Chipmunk Planet.

That's Adams communist ideal; a giant Chipmunk planet of altruistic rodents, with no sense of self, only of the pack.

What and who is "vain"? He, mocking "induhviduals", preaches its "vain" to value oneself and work. But its not "vain" to value something if the mob decides its valuable, and confers 2nd hand prestige.

Communist bastard!

I suspect that the only way time can be infinite is if the past connects to the future like some huge Mobius strip-wormhole kind of deal.

....

until time loops back to our past and we get created again. In other words, we'd HAVE to evolve to the point where we could create a new planet or else we wouldn't exist in the present. Freaky, huh?

He doesn't understand physics or the concept of space-time either. The present and past points in space-time have definite quantum states, the die has been cast, and cannot change without "now" changing consequently. Fermions cannot occupy the same quantum states at the same space-time (Pauli exclusion?).

The horror, the horror!

Scott

--

DIY Piezo-Gyro, PCB Drill Bot & More Soon!
<http://home.comcast.net/~scottxs/>

POLITICS, n.
A strife of interests masquerading as a contest of principles.
The conduct of public affairs for private advantage. - Ambrose Bierce

The noble soul has reverence for itself - Nietzsche

.