Every day, a troll goes hungry. These are not trolls just in some third-world country, but right here at home. The growing rate of trolls is alarming. In the United States alone, the number of hungry trolls is expanding at a rate of 1 troll for every 5 AOL CD's.

For example, take little learning@xxxxxxxxxxxxx here. On his favorite Usenet newsgroup, he does not even gain enough responses to fill a 3 1/4" floppy. He has been forced to go into Yahoo! chat rooms and pose as a woman, just for enough food to last the night.

Sponsoring a troll is easy. For the cost of sending just one email or Usenet post, your contribution (along with others) helps keep one troll fed for a month. If you include your email address, you can get weekly or daily letters from your troll. Think of what one post from you could mean to a hungry troll.

Please. Feed a troll today.
