

Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed

Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-04/msg02870.html>

---

- From: Guy Macon <\_see.web.page\_@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 14 Apr 2005 23:24:17 +0000
-

Charles Schuler wrote:

>And when Linux becomes as popular, the virus writers will go after that OS >and bring it to it's knees. Damned unfortunate that some folks can't >understand that the biggest kid is the target.

Actually, the kid who has the most servers is the target. Taking down some grandma isn't nearly as appealing as taking down eBay, Amazon.com, or Google.

-
- Follow-Ups:
    - ◆ Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
◇ From: Charles Schuler

- References:
  - ◆ XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
◇ From: Guy Macon
  - ◆ Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
◇ From: Fritz Schlunder
  - ◆ Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
◇ From: Charles Schuler

- Prev by Date: Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
- Next by Date: Re: XP is great, *** is a moron
- Previous by thread: Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
- Next by thread: Re: XP has no significant bugs that any significant number of users want fixed
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread