I too am looking for a used scope. In my case, I would like one with a fair amount of bandwidth - say 500Mhz. I don't particularly care about calibration certification. I would prefer a digital storage scope.

I have been looking on ebay, but was wondering if anyone else has a suggestion for a reputable used equipment supplier.

This looks like what you want.

That does look about right, thank you for the suggestion. The boss asked me how much I would guess that we would have to spend and I guessed about $2000 - $2500.

Last time I looked, Tucker wanted $8,000 for that scope.
With guarantee. ;-)

Re: another Oscilloscope Needed Question

I too am hesitant to buy on ebay. I know someone who has bought equipment there and been quite pleased. Unless there were a written guarantee on it, though, I wouldn't get it.
