

Re: OT:Prevent Airline Hijacking

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.electronics.design/2005-05/msg02100.html>

- From: Luhan Monat <x@xxx>
 - Date: Sun, 15 May 2005 11:27:26 -0700
-

Spehro Pefhany wrote:

On 15 May 2005 16:21:48 GMT, the renowned Jim Yanik
<jyanik@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

You have such a low opinion of people.

No, I was just thinking of Quentin Tarantino's Reservoir Dogs. :-)

Best regards, Spehro Pefhany

Hey, how about switchblades? Spring-loaded button-activated devices fashionably decorated in red, white, and blue. An item you can be proud to place next to your car keys and loose change in the plastic dog food dish at the airport metal detector.

Let's quit taking nail clippers away from 80 year old ladies, and give them each one of these 'freedom knives'. Any terrorist will be taken completely off guard by such a person - not having seen any of them really pissed-off in a Wal Mart store!

--

Luhan Monat: luhanis\(at\)yahoo\(dot\)comyahoo(dot)com)
<http://members.cox.net/berniekm>
"Any sufficiently advanced magick is indistinguishable from technology."
.